Walker, Nancy Johnston, 90, died Friday August 3, in Honolulu after a short illness. Born in the small town of Port Leyden, New York, on May 6, 1922, Nancy Georgianna Johnston was a happy surprise to her middle-aged parents and a beloved joy to her three older siblings. Her father, John Lord Johnston, operated the Johnston Pulp and Paper Mill, founded by his father, a country doctor who began the business as a way to supplement the "fees" his patients paid, which were primarily homegrown vegetables. Nancy's mother, Georgia Mary Pomeroy of Utica, New York and Nancy's many aunts on both sides were unusual women for the time: college-educated and professionals. Nancy was a direct descendent of, among others, Elder William Brewster from the Mayflower, famous revolutionary War General Seth Pomeroy, and decorated Civil War surgeon Henry L. Burritt. An early and lifelong reader, Nancy skipped first grade in Port Leyden School; she graduated from the prestigious Emma Willard School in Troy, New York in 1939 and from Skidmore College in 1943. After college, she moved to New York City with college pal Miriam Lary of Maine, living in a series of walk-up apartments. While in New York, she worked at The American City Magazine, St. Bernard's School, Save the Children, and The Town School. In the fall of 1945, she met Henry A. Walker, Jr. of Honolulu on a blind date arranged by her roommate. Henry, the third generation of his family to be born in Hawai'i, was serving on the U.S.S. Missouri, which was docked in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Nancy was smitten by this handsome man, who sat cross-legged and barefoot on the floor of her apartment, serenading her with "Ku'uipo" on his ukulele. Shortly thereafter, Nancy's roommate Miriam Lary married Nancy's brother, making them sisters-in-law for the next 66 years. Nancy and Henry were married on a snowy March 10, 1946 in Port Leyden. After additional time in New York, while Henry attended Columbia University, Nancy, who had never travelled west of Buffalo, courageously set forth for Honolulu, where she was to live happily for the next 65 years. She was married to Henry for 54 years until his death in 2000. While raising two children (H. A. Walker, III "Ren" and Susan), Nancy worked tirelessly for her community. Foregoing the more glamorous causes of her peers, she devoted herself passionately to help children and families through volunteer work on behalf of Down's syndrome, Head Start programs, Child and Family Service, St. Francis Hospital, Straub Hospital, and many others. She and her husband were jointly named Humanitarians of the Year by the Hawai'i Red Cross, in 1988. Nancy's generosity of spirit, high moral character, and support of life's less fortunate continue to serve as a model to her extended family. An accomplished and gracious hostess while Henry Walker was Chairman and CEO of AMFAC, Inc., Nancy was friendly and polite to all, standing up for her beliefs even when it was socially awkward to do so. A true egalitarian, she believed in democratic principles and in the power of education to change lives. In recent years, she lived happily at One Kalakaua Senior Living, where she made good friends who provided her joy and comfort in her later years. Nothing in her long life provided Nancy more pleasure than spending time with her grandchildren, David and Peter Kowen, to whom she was an active and loving grandmother from the day they were born. Nancy is survived by son Ren Walker of Kona, and his wife Brenda; daughter Susan Pomeroy Walker Kowen of Manoa and her husband Richard Kowen; grandson David Walker Kowen and his wife Tiare Salassa, currently of Minneapolis; and grandson Peter Kowen of Manoa. As a surrogate mother and grandmother to many, she was well-loved by nieces and nephews and great-nieces and nephews across the United States. Nancy Walker was a true lady and a woman of substance; she loved her family and taught those around her the meaning of love. Hers was a life well-lived. Burial will be private. A Memorial Service will be held Saturday August 11, 2012 at St. Andrew's Cathedral at 2 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations in her memory may be made to the Institute for Human Services or Child and Family Service. Watters, Maile Mahealani Emilia, was granted her angel wings on June 22, 2012. In her final days, she was surrounded in love by family and friends that Maile touched throughout her short, yet memorable life. Maile was born on May 29, 1987 in Orange, California and had more than her fair share of challenges. Though her life was short she made a real difference and impacted many lives without realizing it. Maile was appointed by the Governor to serve on the State Council on Mental Health. She was awarded the Youth Advocate of the Year in 2009 by the Mental Health America of Hawaii. She served as a Youth Representative for numerous groups and involved in multiple conferences and events as a guest speaker. Her life story resonated with everyone, from policy maker to peers – Maile was and continues to be a true HERO! Her life’s journey gives HOPE to all of us and serves as a reminder of how precious life is and that each of us have a reason for being here. The challenge is to find what your purpose is for this life. Her beautiful smile, unselfish love and sense of humor brought much JOY to her loved ones. Maile is survived by: husband and son, Marc and Ethan Watters; loving parents, Gino Daguio , Carol and George Medina; two sisters, Anela Torres (husband Carlos) and Emmie Daguio; Grandfather, Andy Daguio. We invite you to join us in celebrating her life on Tuesday, July 3rd 2012 at New Hope Leeward (94-050 Farrington Hwy, A1, Waipahu, HI 96797), visitation at 9:00am, and the service at 10:00am. This is what Maile wrote about her own life, you'll recognize it if you have ever been on her Facebook page. "My life is one heck of a journey, since the day I was born I always wanted to give up, but God made me stronger than that. I fight some sort of battle every day, whether it be eating healthy, resting, thinking positive, or trying to stay strong for my son and husband. No one will understand my pains and struggles or what it takes for me to accept and deal with life's challenges. I'm a very complicated person on the inside, but on the outside you wouldn't be able to tell that I'm as sick as the docs say, but I am and this is my life. A battle, a fight to stay alive and still try to be a happy person with a positive attitude. I'd rather not waste my time on the negatives anymore. I'd rather spend each minute of the day, every day to its fullest. Well, take care everyone and GOD BLESS." [Honolulu Star-Advertiser 30 June 2012]

WRISTON, HELEN WAGNER, resident of Honolulu since 1954, died peacefully at her home in Honolulu on September 22, 2012, after a long illness. She was 85. She was born December 25, 1926, in Long Island, New York, to the late Maurice F. and Clara B. Wagner and spent her childhood in and around New Haven, CT where she graduated from the Day School, now a part of Hopkins School, and attended Yale University's School of Music, where she was a member of the Class of 1948. She was a talented pianist, but gave up a career as a pianist in favor of making a home for her family. In addition to caring for her family and being a gracious hostess, she volunteered for many community organizations, including Kauikeolani Children's Hospital, the Legal Auxiliary and Punahou School where she chaired the Punahou Carnival in 1972. She is survived by her husband of over 61 years, A. James Wriston, Jr., an attorney, by her daughter, Jaimee Wriston Colbert (Donald) of Binghamton, NY, and by two sons, John David Wriston (Lisa) of Honolulu, and Jeffrey Pratt Wriston (Erin) of Vancouver, WA, nine grandchildren and one greatgrandchild. She was preceded in death by her eldest son, A. James Wriston, III. Interment will be private, attended only by family. A memorial service for friends and family will be held at Atherton Chapel, Central Union Church on Tuesday, October 2, 2012, at 2:00 p.m. Aloha attire is suggested. In lieu of flowers the family suggests contributions in Helen's memory might be made to Academy of the Pacific, 913 Alewa Drive, Honolulu 96817, from which one of her sons and three of her grandsons graduated, or to your favorite charity.
