Frierson, Jill April 29, 2007 Called one of the best political strategists in the Hawaii Republican Party, Jill Frierson, 62, died April 29 at her home in Kaneohe. Frierson had served as Hawaii GOP executive director and director of Republican research for the House and Senate from 1982 to 2000. In 2001, she served as vice chairman of the Reapportionment Commission. Republican Rep. Barbara Marumoto remembered Frierson as a "Renaissance woman." "She was talented in so many fields, in drama, jewelry, writing and politics," Marumoto said. Born in Washington state, Frierson started work in politics as a speech writer for Dan Evans, former Washington governor and then U.S. senator. After moving to Hawaii, Frierson taught drama at Niu Valley Intermediate School. By 1989 she was doing political surveys, tracking issues and also designing brochures and doing strategic consulting. Frierson was considered instrumental in getting seven of the 19 Republican candidates elected to the House in 2000. "I say we lost one of the really great ones," GOP Rep. Cynthia Thielen said. "She had the best political instinct of anyone in Hawaii." After pulling back from much of her political consulting work, Frierson started working with jewelry and making necklaces that were sold at the Honolulu Academy of Arts. She and her husband, James, were co-owners of Island Pool and Spa Supply. She is survived by her husband and daughter, Kathleen. Visitation will be Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. at Borthwick Mortuary. Fujie, Lloyd, Dec. 28, 2006 Lloyd Fujie, senior vice president of Hawaii Pacific University and former managing partner in Hawaii for Deloitte & Touche LLC, died Thursday. His family said Fujie died on his 59th birthday, one day after experiencing complications while undergoing an operation for pancreatic cancer. He had been diagnosed just two weeks earlier. Fujie worked at Deloitte & Touche for 32 years, including 10 years as managing partner in Hawaii. Last January, he joined Hawaii Pacific University as chief financial officer and vice president and was later promoted to CFO and senior vice president for operations. When Fujie retired from Deloitte, HPU President Chatt Wright said it was an easy decision to hire him to strengthen the HPU management team. "He's widely known for being one of Hawaii's top executives," Wright said. "Lloyd had great leadership abilities, his personality was so positive, so pleasing, he just charmed everyone around him." His friends said Fujie's personality, sense of humor and charisma are what made him a successful businessman and an instant friend to whomever he met. "He made you feel you were the No. 1 client, that you were at the top of the list," said Paul DeVille, whose 33-year friendship with Fujie started when he was Fujie's client at Deloitte. His knack for nurturing and helping others made him a mentor to people inside and outside Deloitte, said Tertia Freas, a partner at the firm who worked with Fujie for most of the 26 years she knew him. "He taught so many of us, not only those who stayed at Deloitte, but others who left and became CEOs of other businesses," Freas said. Fujie was able to ask people the right questions to help them develop a better presentation, said Alton Kuioka, a longtime friend and vice chairman of Bank of Hawaii Corp. "And he does it with such tact and finesse. He always had the right words to say," he said. Fujie is survived by his wife, Carol, sons Gregg and Todd and brothers Glenn and Byron. The service will be held at Harris United Methodist Church Jan. 11, with visitation at 4 p.m. and service at 5:30 p.m. The Fujie family asks that instead of gifts and flowers, people make donations to Friends of the Cancer Research Center of Hawaii, 1236 Lauhala St., Honolulu, HI 96813, attention Sharon Shigemasa, RN.
