George Tanaka - George Tanaka's passion for education led him to support many schools financially -- his own and those of his sons. Tanaka had no connection with the Kamehameha Schools, but his concern for Hawaiians led him to establish a scholarship there. Tanaka, 72, of Honolulu, a Kaimuki dentist for 45 years, died Nov. 25 in Queen's Hospital. Born in Haiku, Maui, he attended Punahou School and was graduated from Roosevelt High School in 1942. He also attended the University of Hawaii two years and the University of Missouri in Kansas City, School of Dentistry, graduating in 1949, second in his class, to earn membership in the Omicron Kappa Upsilon Dental Honor Society. He was the first Asian to be admitted to the Delta Sigma Delta Dental Fraternity. His longtime practice was divided between 39 years at Kaimuki Bowl Building and the last six years in the KAIM Building. He was an associate professor of dentistry at the University of Missouri, Kansas City, School of Dentistry. For the past 35 years, he went there twice a year to teach dental students clinical dentistry. Last year, he was given a full professorship. He won the school's Man of the Year Award in 1974 and the Alumni Achievement Award in 1985. He won the 1996 Pierre Fouchard Award for excellence and ethics in dentistry. His community service included memberships on the Board of Honolulu Dental Service. "He led a peaceful and serene life, because he was always kind, understanding, compassionate, fair, and above all, God-fearing," said his eldest son, Keith Y., a Honolulu attorney. A private service took place in Thurston Chapel at Punahou School Nov. 27. Tanaka also is survived by wife Mary K.; son Nils J.M., a physician in Santa Barbara, Calif.; and one grandchild.
